

REASON #79: BECAUSE THE WIND IS ABUNDANT

There are lots of reasons to buy clean energy, but the biggest is that it can solve so many of our most pressing concerns at once.

Impacts on climate change, dependence on dwindling fossil fuels, and toxic pollution from coal-mining operations can all be reduced when we start using energy generated from clean, renewable resources like wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, and hydropower.

Buy Clean Energy is an ongoing campaign that began in 2010 on the 40th anniversary of Earth Day and encourages individuals and organizations to reduce their electricity use and buy clean energy. With simple tools to help participants discover how much electricity they use, an intuitive search function that displays the certified clean energy options available, and a roster of participants showing their support for clean energy, this campaign is an exciting way to turn concern for the environment into action. Right now.
